What is an Endoscopy Screening?

Endoscopy procedures allow both diagnosis and treatment of gastrointestinal disorders, such as peptic ulcers, polyps, cancers, inflammation and tumours. Our team of consultants are experienced in treating bleeding intestines, precancerous abnormalities in conditions referred to as Barrett's oesophagus, and familial adenomatous polyposis syndrome. Screening is required when you are experiencing gastric reflux symptoms (heartburn), upper abdominal pain, difficulty in swallowing or any other concerns regarding your stomach.

Terms & Conditions:

- For screening or diagnostic purposes only.
- Pre-admission and post-procedure consultations, examinations, anaesthetic charges and medications are excluded.
- Additional charges incurred for consultations/medications/investigations/treatment if required.
- Applicable only to participating Consultants.
- Applicable for Cash/Credit Card paying patients only.
- UCSI Hospital reserves the right to amend terms, conditions and validity period at its absolute discretion without prior notice.
